factors that can be influenced include aqueous solubility, lipid solubility, membrane permeability, metabolic stability, and toxicity but by the same token, other patients may fare as well or better on older, less expensive therapies